

ERA Advertising Information 2020

Regional International

Regional International is the official magazine of ERA (European Regions Airline Association). Published bi-monthly, it is the authoritative source of information on legislative, regulatory and industry news for any company operating in the European aviation environment.

As the ONLY magazine that reaches the entire membership of ERA, including airlines, airports, manufacturers and suppliers, your advertising campaign will be seen by important senior executives and decision makers from within Europe's aviation industry.

- Magazine copies are posted directly to representatives from all ERA members.
- The digital version is sent to a large distribution list of ERA members and key industry contacts via email.
- The digital version is also available on ERA's website www.eraa.org.
- The publication is promoted extensively via all ERA media channels and newsfeeds.

To make the most of your advertising campaign, we will work through the various options available to give you maximum exposure.

Issue sponsorship

Each issue of Regional International and our annual Yearbook is available for exclusive individual sponsorship. This is the ultimate publicity campaign for your business. Taking one of these limited opportunities will provide you with exposure throughout the publication, including the front and back cover, a double page spread with content of your choice, a spread marker band and a banner on the ERA website. It is the package to make you stand out from the crowd, so if you have something to shout about and promote, or want your brand to be noticed, don't miss this unique opportunity. Prices for this unique offer start from just £7,000.

Packages

To make the most of your advertising campaign, we can work through a variety of options that will give you maximum exposure in this key industry publication. Taking one of our six or 12-month packages can also save you money.

ERA Yearbook

Established as the essential reference guide to Europe's airline and aviation sector, the ERA Yearbook is indispensable as an information, reference and business tool, whether for research or commercial use. The ERA Yearbook is keenly sought after by the aviation industry and grows in popularity year on year.

The publication includes the ERA membership directory including contact details for all ERA members: airlines, airports, airframe and engine manufacturers, suppliers and service providers; as well as interviews with ERA's Director General, President and details of ERA's achievements and activities and its strategy for the year ahead. Data on market performance statistics is also provided and supported with expert commentary and analysis.

Copies are distributed to representatives from all ERA member companies as well as industry regulators and experts. A digital version is available online at www.eraa.org and extensively promoted via email and all social media platforms.

Digital Advertising

ERA Website: www.eraa.org

In addition to our print advertising opportunities, we also now offer a selection of digital advertising options on the ERA website: www.eraa.org. High-profile sections of the site include ERA's valued annual events; the ERA Regional Airline Conference and ERA General Assembly.

We work with our digital customers to ensure all their advertising campaigns are in the best and most suitable locations to gain maximum exposure and to reach the right target audience. Online advertising can be incorporated into a package (to also include print media) or can be booked as a standalone option.

Prices start from £500.00 per month

ERA Members' Update

Our bi-weekly e-newsletter, distributed to all ERA members and their personnel, is a well-respected and much read source of industry news and association information. This exclusive offer allows an ERA member to advertise/sponsor Members' Update, one month at a time. If you want the opportunity to drive audiences to your website with a direct link and to promote your brand, this is an excellent way to gain maximum exposure within the industry.

Prices start from £450.00
