WINTER OPERATIONS

ERA Recommends that every airline contains within its de/anti-icing programme a clearly defined statement(s) that leaves operators, pilots, cabin crew, service providers and post-de/anti-icing inspectors in no doubt about the aim of the programme.

The aim is to ensure that aircraft commence take-off only if they are in an airworthy state. Such statements are often referred to as “The Clean Wing (or Aircraft) Concept”, and can be supplemented with statements of relevance to each different aircraft make, type, and model.
